

National Freelancers Day

Abbey Tax is pleased to support National Freelancers Day on Monday 23rd November. The day has been established by the Professional Contractors Group in recognition of the contribution that freelancers, consultants, interims and contractors make to the UK economy.

The aim of National Freelancers Day is to:

- Highlight this flexible, agile and expert community to UK businesses, showing how to engage and work with freelancers effectively.
- Celebrate freelancing as a valid career choice, highlighting the community and support network.
- Emphasise that to unlock the full potential and freelancing, the Government must recognise that freelancers are in business and entitled to clear and fair taxation laws.

On National Freelancers Day, the PCG is launching a Manifesto for Freelancers at a reception in Westminster alongside a number of evening networking events which are taking place across the UK. There will also be a webcast on the future of work in which a group of experts will look ahead to 2020, examining how the concept of freelancing is likely to develop within the changing business world.
